INTRODUCTION

The United Negro College Fund's Annual Statistical Report is a compilation of the most recent statistical information on its forty-two member institutions. All UNCF institutions are private, accredited, predominantly black colleges and universities. Forty member institutions offer baccalaureate programs, while two (Atlanta University and the Interdenominational Theological Center) offer graduate degree studies exclusively. Several member institutions, including Fisk, Tuskegee and Xavier, offer graduate programs in addition to their undergraduate curricula.

Public and private historically black colleges (HBC's) comprise fewer than 4% of all institutions of higher education in the United States, yet they enroll nearly one-fifth (19.7%) of all blacks attending college. Of over 3,000 colleges and universities nationwide, 99 are considered historically black. Of these, 41 are public and 58 are private; 84 are four-year institutions. Of the 84 four-year HBC's, 50 are private and 34 are public. Forty-two of the fifty four-year private HBC's are members of the United Negro College Fund.

Total black enrollment in higher education in fall 1982 was 1,101,499, with 216,572 or 19.7% enrolled in HBC's.[1] Over 71% of the students enrolled in HBC's attended public HBC's (154,651); approximately 29% (61,921) attended private HBC's. Of the 61,921 enrolled in private HBC's in 1982, 43,089 or 69.6% attended United Negro College Fund member institutions.

More than 44% of blacks enrolled in higher education in 1982 attended two-year institutions; the remainder attended four-year colleges and universities. With regard to UNCF colleges, 7.0% of blacks enrolled in four-year colleges in 1982 were enrolled in UNCF institutions.[2]

The forty-two UNCF member institutions have special significance because of their traditional and continuing role in educating minority group students for productive and creative participation in American life. During the past century, the private black colleges have provided education otherwise unavailable to thousands of able and deserving youths. Much of the black leadership in America today is provided by the alumni of these institutions.

Method:

The statistical information included in this study was obtained from the UNCF Questionnaire, which is sent annually to each of the member institutions. Enrollment data used in the report are based on the fall of each academic year to facilitate comparisons with other institutions.

Fall enrollment data exclude summer school students and students who did not enroll until the spring semester. Total enrollment at UNCF institutions, including summer school and additional spring semester students, is approximately 45,000 students.

Fall 1983 Enrollment

In recent years, economic trends have adversely affected enrollment at colleges around the country. This year, enrollment at all institutions of higher education increased 3.0%. However, much of this increase can be attributed to a rise in the number of part-time students and to an increase in enrollment at proprietary institutions that emphasize job training. Public institutions showed a 1.5% increase in enrollment.[1]

At private liberal arts colleges nationally, enrollment increased 0.9% from fall 1982 to fall 1983, with a 1.3% increase in the number of undergraduates and a 1.9% increase in graduate enrollment.

In the fall of 1983, UNCF institutions enrolled 43,749 students, a 1.5% increase over the previous year's figure of 43,089 (Appendix A). Twenty-one UNCF colleges reported increases in the number of students enrolled, twenty reported decreases and one college registered no change.

Analyzing the enrollment data according to size of institution shows that the colleges with fewer than 1,000 students showed gains in enrollment. There are 25 UNCF colleges in this category. These schools showed a 4.9% overall increase in enrollment, significantly higher than the 2.7% rise at private colleges of this size nationally.

The 16 institutions making up the next category enroll from 1,000 to 2,500 students. Enrollment at these UNCF colleges declined 0.4% overall, compared with a 1.3% increase at private institutions of comparable size nationally.

First-time Freshmen

In the fall of 1983, UNCF colleges enrolled 12,695 first-time freshmen, up 9.3% from 11,612 in 1982 (Appendix B). This increase in the number of UNCF entering freshmen was substantially higher than the 2.5% overall increase in first-time freshmen at private institutions nationally.[3]

The increase in first-time freshman enrollment is partly accounted for by increases in the applicant pool. In the fall of 1983 there were 32,771 applicants to UNCF colleges, up 6.9% from the fall of 1982. Nearly 54% of those offered admission went on to enroll in the fall of 1983, compared with 51% in 1982.

In 1983, 13% of entering freshmen at UNCF colleges were in the top tenth of their high-school class, down from 14% in the previous year (Appendix C). However, the percentage of freshmen who were in the upper half of their high-school class increased to 52%. In 1982, 47% of UNCF first-time freshmen were in the top half of their high-school class.

Transfer Students

In the fall of 1983, 2,072 transfer students or 4.7% of the total enrollment, attended UNCF colleges (Appendix E). This enrollment figure represented an increase of more than 26% over 1982, when 1,641 students transferred to UNCF colleges from other institutions.

Of the 1,922 transfer students for whom detailed information is available, just over half, or 967 enrolled students, come to UNCF institutions from four-year colleges. Of that number, 609 (63.1%) students had attended institutions that were predominantly white, and 358 transferred from predominantly black colleges.

Of the 955 UNCF transfer students who had attended two-year colleges, nearly four-fifths, or 758 students, came from institutions that were predominantly white; 197 students had attended predominantly black two-year colleges.

Male-Female

The proportion of male to female students at UNCF colleges has remained stable over the past decade. In the fall of 1982, 45.4% of the total UNCF enrollment were male and 54.9% were female (Appendix D). At the undergraduate level, the breakdown was 45.1% male and 54.9% female.

At the graduate level, the breakdown by sex shifts, with more males being represented. Male graduate students constituted 53.8% of the student body, while graduate women represented 46.2%. This reverses the trend from 1982, when the proportion was 47.8% male to 52.2% female.

Geographical Distribution

In the fall of 1983, the majority (60.8%) of students in UNCF schools came from the Southeastern region. The actual number of students from this region is 26,611, down 4.3% from 27,791 in the fall of 1982. Students from the Central states now represent 9.2% of the total enrollment. In the previous year, 8.9% of UNCF students came from this region. The number of students from the Central region was 4,027, up 5.2% from 3,828 last year. Representation from the Northeastern region did not change from fall 1982 to fall 1983. In the fall of 1983 there were 4,576 students from the Northeast, making up to 10.5% of total enrollment. Student representation from the Western region increased sharply. In 1983 there were 4,583 students from the western states enrolled at UNCF colleges, or 10.5% of the total enrollment. The number of students from this region increased 46.9% from the 3,119 students who composed 7.2% of the student body in 1982.

In the fall of 1983, 58% of the students enrolled at UNCF colleges were from in-state and 35% were from out-of-state. These figures are the same as those for 1982 (Appendix G). UNCF colleges enrolled 22,824 students from major cities where the College Fund conducts fund-raising campaigns (Appendix H).

There were 3,423 foreign students enrolled in UNCF colleges in 1983, down 2.8% from 3,520 in the previous year. In the fall of 1983, foreign students were 7.8% of the student population, compared with 8.2% in 1982. These students came to UNCF colleges from more than 53 countries. Approximately 56.4% of the foreign students come from African countries, 13.8% from the Caribbean and 8.6% from the Middle East (Appendix I).

FACULTY

Total Faculty

In the fall of 1983 there were 2,876 full-time equivalent faculty (FTE), down slightly from 2,888 in the previous year (Appendix J).

From 1982-1983 to 1983-1984, new appointments remained virtually static at 13% of the total UNCF faculty. During that same period, separations accounted for 13% of the total faculty (Appendix K).

The racial composition of the faculty at UNCF colleges also remained virtually unchanged. In the fall of 1983, there were 1,901 black faculty, a decline of 0.3% from 1,906 in the previous year. There were 975 non-black UNCF faculty, which represents a decline of 0.7% from the 982 who were employed in the previous year. Black faculty constituted 66.1% of the faculty at UNCF schools in the fall of 1983. Non-black faculty represented 33.9% of the total faculty at UNCF colleges (Appendix J).

Faculty by Degree

In 1983-84, 43.3% of the total faculty at UNCF institutions held doctoral degrees. This represents a slight decrease of 0.3% from the previous year, when 43.6% of the combined faculty held doctorates (Appendix J).

Faculty Distribution by Subject Area

The humanities and languages division accounts for 23% of the teaching faculty at UNCF colleges. Nineteen percent of the teaching staff give instruction in science and math. Faculty in the social sciences are represented by 16% of the staff. The education staff represents 15% of the total teaching faculty. Instruction in business accounts for 11% of the staff. The division of fine and applied arts accounts for 8% of the faculty. The vocational education and health division represents 4% of the total teaching staff at UNCF colleges, while 2% of UNCF faculty give instruction in the engineering and computer science division (Appendix L).

Faculty Salaries

Faculty salaries at UNCF colleges increased an average 6.8% in 1983-84. This compares with a 3.6% increase during the previous year. With a 2.6% rate of inflation from September, 1983 to May, 1984, the 6.8% raise meant only a 4.2% increase in purchasing power for UNCF faculty members. Those faculty members classified as full professors received the largest increase, 9.9% (Appendix M).

Full professors at UNCF colleges earned two-thirds the salary of professors at all independent private institutions and 81.4% of the salary of their peers at all church-related colleges. UNCF instructors earned the most compared with the salaries of their peers at independent private colleges (78.6%) and at church-related institutions nationally (88.4%).

1."Average Faculty Salaries by Rank and Type of Institution, 1983-84," The Chronicle of Higher Education, June 20, 1984. These figures are based on a survey conducted by the American Association of University Professors and consists of the average of all institutions granting only bachelor's degrees and equivalent.

DEGREES GRANTED

Total Undergraduate and Graduate Degrees

In 1983, UNCF institutions awarded 6,590 degrees, a 1.4% increase over the previous year (Appendix N). The number of bachelor's degrees increased 1.3% to 5,908. A total of 515 UNCF students earned master's degrees (a 4.6% decline), 142 earned professional degrees and 25 were granted the doctoral degree in 1983.

Degrees Conferred by Subject Area

In 1983, 1,882 students at UNCF institutions were granted degrees in business, an increase of 8.2% over the previous year. Business degrees accounted for 28.6% of all UNCF degrees awarded in 1983. Just over 43% of those business degrees were earned by students with a concentration in business administration. Accounting (19.4%) and business management (19.9%) each represented about one-fifth of all earned business degrees in 1983.

UNCF institutions awarded 1,116 degrees in education, a decline of 2.6% from the 1982 total. Degrees in education accounted for 16.9% of all UNCF degrees awarded in 1983.

Degrees in the social sciences made up 16.7% of all degrees awarded by UNCF colleges in 1983. The 1,100 total represented a 7.3% decline from the previous year's figure.

Approximately 6% of all UNCF degrees were awarded in the biological sciences, 4.6% in the health professions and 3.1% in the physical sciences. Communications degrees represented 4.2% of the total degrees granted by UNCF institutions in 1983 (Appendix O).

A total of 1,195 students were enrolled in the dual-degree engineering program at UNCF institutions in 1982-83, a decrease of 7.6% from the previous year (Appendix P).

STUDENT FINANCES

Student Financial Aid

Approximately 91% of all students attending UNCF colleges received financial assistance in 1982-83. The total allocation was $130,456,629, which represents an increase of 2.8% or nearly $3.6 million over the previous academic year (Appendix Q).

Under the Pell Grant program, the largest single source of aid, UNCF students were granted a total of $40,090,575 in 1982-83, a 2.6% decrease from the 1981-82 allocation. The number of students receiving aid under this program decreased by 10.4%. In 1982-83, nearly two-thirds of all UNCF students, or 28,918 students, received the Pell Grant. In 1981-82, three-fourths of all UNCF students, or 32,270, received funding under this program. The size of the average Pell grant increased 8.7% to $1,386 in 1982-83.

Under the Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG) program, $13,064,925 was awarded to UNCF students in 1982-83, a 2.5% increase over the previous year. A total of 16,313 students, or just over 36% of all UNCF students, received an average $801 in grant aid. The number of students awarded SEOG grants decreased 3.5% from 1982-83 and the average award increased 6.2%.

Loans represented nearly one-quarter (23.5%) of the total financial aid allocation to UNCF students in 1982-83. In 1981-82, loans were 20.7% of total aid. Five years ago, in 1977-78 loans accounted for only 12.9% of the financial aid total. During 1982-83, UNCF students borrowed a total of $27,659,969, a 5.3% increase over the previous year. This increase was due entirely to a rise in the Guaranteed Student Loan program participation.

In 1982-83, 11,431 students, or more than one-fourth (26%) of all UNCF students, borrowed $26,262,916 under the Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL) program. The total GSL allocation increased by $5.1 million or 24.6% and represented one-fifth of all financial aid awarded to UNCF students. The number of student borrowers increased 15.6% over 1981-82, and the average GSL loan increased 7.8% to $2,298. In contrast, the National Direct Student Loan (NDSL) allocation declined 15.5% to $4,397,053 in 1982-83. The number of UNCF students taking out loans under this program declined 20% to 6,059, or 14% of all UNCF students. The size of the average loan increased 5.7% to $726.

College Work-Study funds increased 3.7% to $17,486,387 in 1982-83. The number of students receiving College Work-Study aid dropped just under 1% to 18,669. The average grant increased 4.8% to $936.

In 1982-83, institutional scholarships totaling $10,771,395 were awarded to 8,369 students, or 19% of all students attending UNCF institutions. The total allocation decreased 3.6%, while the number of students receiving institutional aid decreased 15.1%. The size of the average scholarship was $1,287, a 10.4% increase over 1981-82.

State scholarships were awarded to over 34% of all UNCF students, or 15,043 students, in 1982-83. A total of $13,340,727 in state aid was awarded, a decrease of 1.5% from the previous year. UNCF students received an average $887 in scholarship aid under this program.

In 1982-83, veterans' benefits in the amount of $662,978 were awarded to 286 UNCF students, less than 1% of the total enrollment.

Average Cost to Students

In 1983-84, the total cost of attending a UNCF institution was $5,118, a 7.8% increase over the previous year (Appendix R). At private four-year colleges nationally, the total cost increased 13.5% to $7,431[1] in 1983-84. The cost of attending a UNCF institution was only 68.9% of the amount charged by private four-year colleges nationally.

Tuition at UNCF institutions increased 9% to $2,902, less than two-thirds (62.7%) of tuition costs at all private four-year colleges. Tuition at four-year private colleges nationally showed a 15.1% increase to $4,627 in 1983-84.

The average charge for room and board at UNCF colleges in 1983-84 was $1,907, a 6.2% increase over the previous year. At private four-year colleges nationally, room and board increased 10.4% to $2,457. Room and board at UNCF colleges cost 77.6% of the average charge at all four-year private colleges.

Books and supplies for UNCF students increased 6.2% to $309 in 1983-84, compared to a 16.4% increase at four-year private colleges nationally. The cost of books and supplies at UNCF colleges was 89.0% of the $347 charged at private four-year colleges nationally.

UNCF institutions project a 5.8% increase in tuition for 1984-85. The projected cost of tuition is $3,070. At four-year private colleges nationally, an 8.4% tuition increase to $5,016 is projected.[2]

INSTITUTIONAL FINANCES

In 1982-83, average current fund expenditures per UNCF institution increased 2.4% to $8,204,944. Average revenues at UNCF colleges increased 6.4% to $8,461,829. Thirty-one percent of the 42 UNCF institutions, or 13 colleges, were operating at a budget deficit in 1982-83, compared with 18 UNCF colleges the previous year (Appendix S).

UNCF colleges spent an average of $7,877 per student in 1982-83, compared with $11,500 average expenditures per student at private four-year colleges nationally.[1] Average revenues per student at UNCF institutions were $8,124, compared with $11,800 per student at private four-year colleges nationally.[2]

Expenditures

The three largest expense categories at UNCF institutions were instruction, institutional support and auxiliary enterprises. In 1982-83, 23% of the average UNCF operating budget was spent on instruction. At private colleges nationally, 27.5% of their operating budgets was spent on instruction in 1981-82, the most recent available figures.[3] The next largest category, institutional support, represented 19% of the total budget of the UNCF member colleges; at equivalent colleges nationally, this figure was 15.7%. Fourteen percent of UNCF operating budgets was spent on auxiliary enterprises, which include colleges stores, food service and residence halls. At private colleges nationally, 19.3% of their total budgets was spent on auxiliary enterprises (Appendix T).

Scholarships and fellowships represented 12% of total spending at UNCF colleges in 1982-83, compared with 8% at private colleges nationally. Plant operation and maintenance expenditures at UNCF colleges represented 11% of the total operating budgets, compared with 19.3% of the total budget at private colleges nationally. Outlays for student services accounted for 9% of the total UNCF member institutions' operating budgets, both at UNCF institutions and at private colleges nationally.

UNCF colleges spent an average of 5% of their total operating budgets on academic support, 2% on research and 4% each on public service and miscellaneous expenses in 1982-83 (Appendix U).

Revenues

Tuition and fees accounted for 36% of total revenues at UNCF institutions in 1982-83, compared with 54.7% of total revenues at private colleges nationally.[4] UNCF colleges received 23% of their total revenues from the federal government in 1982-83. At equivalent colleges nationally, this category represented only 5.7% of total revenues. Revenues from state government were 1% of total revenues at UNCF colleges and 1.7% of the total at private colleges nationally. Nineteen percent of total revenues at UNCF institutions came from private gifts, compared with 10.4% of the total at private colleges nationally. Auxiliary enterprises accounted for 16% of the total revenues at UNCF institutions and 21.8% of the total revenues at equivalent colleges nationally. Income from endowments represented 4% of total UNCF member college revenues. Private colleges nationally received 5.5% of their total revenues from endowment income. Miscellaneous income accounted for 2% of the total UNCF revenues.

Total Endowment

The combined endowment at UNCF institutions rose 36.8% to $201,339,125 (Appendix V) in 1982-83. The average UNCF college endowment was $4,793,789. At private colleges nationally, the average endowment was $13.9 million in 1982.[5] Only three UNCF member institutions equalled or exceeded this figure. Thirteen UNCF colleges, or 30.9% of the total, reported endowments of less than $1 million. The UNCF average endowment per student, $4,602, was less than half (47.5%) that of the $9,682 average endowment per student at equivalent colleges nationally.
